

SALE OF CLOVERDALE POLAND CHINA HOGS

The sale of Cloverdale Poland Chinas at the farm of A. J. Matthews and Sons at Oran last Friday was a big success. The roads were muddy, the air very raw and cold, but notwithstanding these drawbacks, quite a good crowd was present and the bidding at times was spirited. Col. Price, of Nebraska, was the auctioneer, with Gus Slickman as Clerk. The sale averaged around $144 per head and the beauty of it was: most of the offerings went to local buyers. The splendid sales barn was in tip-top condition for the exhibition of the animals, and the buyers and the hogs mingled together until all carried the same brand of perfume.

The Messrs. Matthews deserve great credit for this offering. Every sow in the sales ring was bred and raised on the Cloverdale farm and were show in fine condition.

At the Cloverdale sales no by-bidding is permitted and if only $30 is offered for a $300 animal it will be a bonafide sale for the $30. Emory Matthews informed the editor of The Standard, that many single sows have been sold from their herd in the past to men who were not farmers, but who kept the sow and pigs on town lots, and later sold pigs as high as $60 each.

This firm has done much to introduce pure bred stock in Southeast Missouri and their efforts have begun to bear financial fruit in a very satisfactory way. They are well pleased with the results and the purchasers of their stock have always been better pleased.

These Poland China Sales will be semi-annual events at the Cloverdale Farms and the dates of same will be looked forward to with much interest by the buyers of Southeast Missouri and the Central West.

A fire alarm given about 11 A. M. Monday morning, called the fire-fighters to extinguish a small blaze at the home of Mrs. Si Mitchell on Greer avenue. It is supposed that sparks from the kitchen flue were blown underneath the shingles by the high wind and fanned into flame. Prompt action on the part of the neighbors, who extinguished the largest of the several blazes, probably prevented a disastrous fire.

It was generally supposed that the late James Hogan had $4000 more that he had accumulated after years of hard work and was saving to buy a farm. A short time before he died, he made the remark that he had now enough cash to purchase a small farm and intended doing so soon. Since his death very little of the money can be found, there was but little more than $300 in the bank. A few days ago Mrs. Hogan found $200 sewed between the top and lining of an old work coat. Although every nook and crannie of the house and barn have been searched and also each article of wearing apparel no more money can be found.

The editorial is printed elsewhere in The Standard.

Missouri Shows The Way.

An article in the Country Gentleman of March 13 is a sign of the growing interest in what has been accomplished in this state in the reclamation of wet lands. It is a large and promising subject in American agriculture. The demonstration referred to is in eight counties of Southeast Missouri and it may well claim attention throughout the country. The big improvement has been carried forward by individual and local enterprise. No aid has been received from state or national government, though drainage of such lands is fairly a matter that deserves public and legislative interest and co-operation. In the largest drainage district in Southeast Missouri the main ditch is ninety miles long, and about $6,000,000 have been spent in reclamation. Results are taking shape in the area redeemed—corn, alfalfa, cotton and live stock are solid facts for farmers, and the drained lands of Missouri team with these products of a soil that, relieved of soggy conditions, is inexhaustibly fertile.

The Mississippi River and its tributaries are a vast field for drainage and the proofs of what can be done are welcome. Missourians have labored and spent their money for drainage on this scale were rich only in faith and vigorous industry. Their judgment and foresight were sound. The example is at the service of the country. Reclamation of wet lands loom large in general economic questions.—Globe Democrat.

Generals At The Front.

Two Major Generals and seven Brigadiers won the Distinguished Service Cross. The stories of these nine, at the time of the meriting the award, are tales of courage under artillery and machine gun fire, of troops wavering under heavy losses and rallied by the sight of their chief in the thick of things, of first waves led over in great offensives. In one case, that of Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, Chief of Air Service, First Artillery, a monoplane, not a horse, was the charger that took the hero into battle.

Gone are the days of Alexander the Great, when no courageous General had to forego an opportunity for personally showing his valor. The rules of warfare in those days were all drawn in favor of the fighting General. The commander in chief mounted his favorite steed and bore both the sword and shield. He roved the battlefield, hoping that the gods might take him safely through the phalanx to the side of his dearest enemy, the General commanding the opposition. But when the United States went to war with Germany, things were different. Fashions had changed, even since the civil war, which had left many traditions of battlefield fighting by Generals. In France the American General had to play under new rules and do his personal charging by telephone—ordinarily.

But even in France there were American Generals who found opportunities to go into battle with their troops. They are: Maj. Gen. William H. Johnston, Ninety-first Division; Maj. Gen. Robert Alexander, Seventy-seventh Division; Brig. Gen. Douglas McArthur, Eighty-fourth Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, Chief of Air Service, First Army; Brig. Gen. Benjamin A. Poore, Seventy-seventh Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. John B. McDonald, One Hundred and Eighty-first Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. Beaumont B. Buck, Second Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, Fifth Brigade, and Brig. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, Fifty-fifth Infantry Brigade.

Faith In European Bonds.

Only those who recall the situation when foreigners bought our securities during the dark days of the Civil War, when our 6 per cent Government bonds sold on a gold basis for less than 50 cents on the dollar—to be accurate, as low as 40.15—have a background for comparison with the present situation. Those who have faith in the favorable outcome of conditions in European countries, and are willing to take the risk of backing their faith by the investment of their savings abroad, may reap profits following the present uncertainty in Europe commensurate with the profits that Europeans reaped who had the faith and courage necessary to invest money in this country during the Civil War. At any rate, investors who buy safe securities today will profit by the present world-wide competition for capital, which means the bidding up of the price paid for it everywhere.—World's Works.

Ready for The Hessian Fly.

It is likely that more will be learned this year about the Hessian fly than in any year since Gen. Howe's hired Hessians are supposed to have brought the pest to Long Island during the Revolution. There have been numerous destructive outbreaks of the Hessian fly and a great deal has been found out about it, but nobody was in position to do the job properly. Another outbreak is likely this spring, and the United States Department of Agriculture is ready for it.

Two years ago the appropriation for Hessian fly work was increased sufficiently to provide for the principal needs. Shortly afterwards the Bureau of Entomology established three stations for the purpose of systematic study. They are at Carlisle, Pa., Centralia, Ill., and Wichita, Kan. Each station is equipped with a full set of weather instruments, and several readings are taken each year throughout the year. Sowings have been made at various dates for several years to determine the fly-free period for each year. Experiments have been conducted with many varieties of wheat to determine their fly-resisting qualities. Exhaustive investigations are under way on parasites of the Hessian fly. The main object is of wheat to determine their fly-resistance or absence of any particular parasite has on periodical outbreaks of the fly.

When the last great outbreak came five or six years ago no such complete preparation for study had been made. If the threatening one materializes this spring the preparation that has been made should result in a number of important studies.

Men's work clothing cheaper than the manufacture price.—Pinnell Store Co.

In the 10 years since the Montana National Bison Range was established the 37 buffaloes with which the herd was started have increased to 296. In addition there are on the range 125 elk (not including calves of last year), 33 antelope and 13 mule deer. It is believed that the range is large enough to support 800 bison, 400 antelope, 500 deer, and 800 elk.

The live-stock sale advertised in The Standard for March 9 for Moore and Bryant between Benton and Commerce was favored with a bright day and was attended by probably the largest crowd that ever attended a sale in the County. The day was too short to sell more than one-fourth the stock. Mr. Bryant will be on hand to sell the rest at a private sale.

Of all the questions that are before the public today, the one of Our Schools stands out in bold relief. It is to the schools that every country owes its citizenship, and it is to the school teachers that we owe the class of citizenship. It is out of the question to expect a teacher to spend years in getting an education and thousands of dollars to pay for same, and then worry their lives away for a less wage than is paid to the humblest laborer of the land who neither reads nor writes. At the coming school election in April the matter of voting for an increase of the school levy from $1.40 on the $100 to $2.00 on the hundred in order to secure money for the increase in the pay of teachers if we are to secure competent ones, comes before the voters for their approval or disapproval. This is a question that should merit the serious consideration of the voters and tax-payers of the Skeston School District at this time. It is going to be necessary to do a little missionary work, or educational work, to carry the increased levy and The Standard believes the citizens should call a mass meeting to discuss ways and means to carry the election. The Wards should be organized and every voter sounded as to his stand on the question, and if there be any opposition, let the party have the details and reasons made plain to him that he may see the necessity in the right light. The Standard is dead rank opposed to the teachers affiliating with the American Federation of Labor in order to bring pressure to bear to secure the increase that is necessary, but will do anything in its power to secure more money for them. The Standard believes the minimum wage should be $1200 per year for Skeston and paid every month for the year.

The first paragraph to be set on The Standard's new No. 14 linotype is the one inviting those who are interested in new and up-to-date machinery to call at the office and see this wonderful piece of machinery in operation. The linotype was contracted for July 10, 1919, at a price of $3,500 and at the time of delivery is on the market at $4,500. With this latest standard machine the operator is able to set seven different faces of type on the one machine without being forced to change magazines and mats. We trust that this new machine will set nothing that will offend any of our readers, but at the same time the machine will be fed some copy that may not please everybody. When you are in the neighborhood of The Standard office step in and see Miss Sheppard at the keyboard.

When the children start a game, they "count out" to see who shall be "it." It's merely a process of elimination for making a choice.

When you buy goods through a mail order catalog you do much the same thing. There are often several items of the same class grouped on a page. You don't want this one because of such and such a feature. You reject that one because it lacks so-and-so. And when you have inspected all the pictures and read all the descriptions and eliminated those with objectionable features you finally take what's left.

If you could have seen the articles themselves, you might have

Successful Sale Held of the Town Lots In Smith Addition of Campbell.

The sale of town lots in the R. J. Smith addition in Campbell was quite successful. Mr. Smith and the promoters of the sale deserved a better day. They have been handicapped all along on account of rainy weather; the sale being postponed from the first date set. On the day of the sale, the clouds hung heavy all morning and about noon a slow drizzly rain began to fall and it looked as if the sale would have to be postponed again, but the owner and the promoters were determined to hold the sale if possible, so they ordered the band to start playing and the parade started for the lots. The attendance was far above expectation and though the rain began to fall harder, the crowd took it good naturedly and remained upon the grounds until the last lot was sold.

The lots were 40x150 and ranged in price from $465.00 to $395.00 or an average of $106.72 per lot. The property was well divided and was bought by the citizens of Campbell and the surrounding farmers and many of the purchasers expect to erect homes on their lots this summer.

The sale was well managed; even down to the smallest detail and Mr. Smith was well pleased with the results and gave the promoters high praise for their work. The sale was promoted by The Ebert-McCoy Realty Auction Co. of St. Louis; the auctioneer being Col. A. A. Ebert of this firm.

The gold gift was won by Mrs. M. E. Towler, an elderly widowed lady of that city; the lucky number being 1490.

Very soon the weather will be fit to do road grading. I have noticed that trees have been trimmed and brush and other rubbish, tin cans have been piled along road side. Wish to say, tha such acts, as piling brush and other rubbish out of yards, in the roads is contrary to Street Ordinance.

It takes a great deal of the Commissioners time, while grading, when the grading has to stop, and devote his time to or in getting rid of brush piles and other rubbish.

Wishing your co-operation and good will, I beg pardon.

SALE OF CLOVERDALE POLAND CHINA HOGS

The sale of Cloverdale Poland Chinas at the farm of A. J. Matthews and Sons at Oran last Friday was a big success. The roads were muddy, the air very raw and cold, but notwithstanding these drawbacks, quite a good crowd was present and the bidding at times was spirited. Col. Price, of Nebraska, was the auctioneer, with Gus Slickman as Clerk. The sale averaged around $144 per head and the beauty of it was: most of the offerings went to local buyers. The splendid sales barn was in tip-top condition for the exhibition of the animals, and the buyers and the hogs mingled together until all carried the same brand of perfume.

The Messrs. Matthews deserve great credit for this offering. Every sow in the sales ring was bred and raised on the Cloverdale farm and were show in fine condition.

At the Cloverdale sales no by-bidding is permitted and if only $30 is offered for a $300 animal it will be a bonifide sale for the $30. Emory Matthews informed the editor of The Standard, that many single sows have been sold from their herd in the past to men who were not farmers, but who kept the sow and pigs on town lots, and later sold pigs as high as $60 each.

This firm has done much to introduce pure bred stock in Southeast Missouri and their efforts have begun to bear financial fruit in a very satisfactory way. They are well pleased with the results and the purchasers of their stock have always been better pleased.

These Poland China Sales will be semi-annual events at the Cloverdale Farms and the dates of same will be looked forward to with much interest by the buyers of Southeast Missouri and the Central West.

Yet your tires will cost you no more if you get 20 per cent more mileage out of them. Figure your tire cost on the mileage basis and not on the initial cost.

Which is the cheaper, a tire that cost you $40.00 and runs 5000 miles or a tire that cost you $60.00 and runs 10,000 miles? More tires are ruined by abuse or neglect than there are worn out.

THE STANDARD is the only paper in Scott county that is published twice-a-week; for newspaper readers wanting the news while it is news, and for advertisers desiring quick results, it is the best medium.

Of all the questions that are before the public today, the one of Our Schools stands out in bold relief. It is to the schools that every country owes its citizenship and it is to the school teachers that we owe the class of citizenship. It is out of the question to expect a teacher to spend years in getting an education and thousands of dollars to pay for same, and then worry their lives away for a less wage than is paid to the humble laborer of the land who neither reads nor writes. At the coming school election in April the matter of voting for an increase of the school levy from $1.40 on the $100 to $2.00 on the hundred in order to secure money for the increase in the pay of teachers if we are to secure competent ones, comes before the voters for their approval or disapproval. This is a question that should merit the serious consideration of the voters and tax-payers of the Sikeston School District at this time. It is going to be necessary to do a little missionary work, or educational work, to carry the increased levy and The Standard believes the citizens should call a mass meeting to discuss ways and means to carry the election. The Wards should be organized and every voter sounded as to his stand on the question, and if there be any opposition, let the party have the details and reasons made plain to him that he may see the necessity in the right light. The Standard is dead rank opposed to the teachers affiliating with the American Federation of Labor in order to bring pressure to bear to secure the increase that is necessary, but will do anything in its power to secure more money for them. The Standard believes the minimum wage should be $1200 per year for Sikeston and paid every month for the year.

The first paragraph to be set on The Standard's new No. 14 linotype is the one inviting those who are interested in new and up-to-date machinery to call at the office and see this wonderful piece of machinery in operation. The linotype was contracted for July 10, 1919, at a price of $3,500 and at the time of delivery is on the market at $4,500. With this latest standard machine the operator is able to set seven different faces of type on the one machine without being forced to change magazines and mats. We trust that this new machine will set nothing that will offend any of our readers, but at the same time the machine will be fed some copy that may not please everybody. When you are in the neighborhood of The Standard office step in and see Miss Sheppard at the keyboard.

Missouri Shows The Way.

An article in the Country Gentleman of March 13 is a sign of the growing interest in what has been accomplished in this state in the reclamation of wet lands. It is a large and promising subject in American agriculture. The demonstration referred to is in eight counties of Southeast Missouri and it may well claim attention throughout the country. The big improvement has been carried forward by individual and local enterprise. No aid has been received from state or national government, though drainage of such lands is fairly a matter that deserves public and legislative interest and co-operation. In the largest drainage district in Southeast Missouri the main ditch is ninety miles long, and about $6,000,000 have been spent in reclamation. Results are taking shape in the area redeemed—corn, alfalfa, cotton and live stock are solid facts for farmers, and the drained lands of Missouri team with these products of a soil that, relieved of soggy conditions, is inexhaustibly fertile.

The Mississippi River and its tributaries are a vast field for drainage and the proofs of what can be done are welcome. Missourians have labored and spent their money for drainage on this scale were rich only in faith and vigorous industry. Their judgment and foresight were sound. The example is at the service of the country. Reclamation of wet lands loom large in general economic questions.—Globe Democrat.

Generals At The Front.

Two Major Generals and seven Brigadiers won the Distinguished Service Cross. The stories of these nine, at the time of the meriting the award, are tales of courage under artillery and machine gun fire, of troops wavering under heavy losses and rallied by the sight of their chief in the thick of things, of first waves led over in great offensives. In one case, that of Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, Chief of Air Service, First Artillery, a monoplane, not a horse, was the charger that took the hero into battle.

Gone are the days of Alexander the Great, when no courageous General had to forego an opportunity for personally showing his valor. The rules of warfare in those days were all drawn in favor of the fighting General. The commander in chief mounted his favorite steed and bore both the sword and shield. He roved the battlefield, hoping that the gods might take him safely through the phalanx to the side of his dearest enemy, the General commanding the opposition.

But when the United States went to war with Germany, things were different. Fashions had changed, even since the civil war, which had left many traditions of battlefield fighting by Generals. In France the American General had to play under new rules and do his personal charging by telephone—ordinarily.

But even in France there were American Generals who found opportunities to go into battle with their troops. They are: Maj. Gen. William H. Johnston, Ninety-first Division; Maj. Gen. Robert Alexander, Seventy-seventh Division; Brig. Gen. Douglas McArthur, Eighty-fourth Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. William Mitchell, Chief of Air Service, First Army; Brig. Gen. Benjamin A. Poore, Sevent Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. John B. McDonald, One Hundred and Eighty-first Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. Beaumont B. Buck, Second Infantry Brigade; Brig. Gen. Fred W. Sladen, Fifth Brigade, and Brig. Gen. Dennis E. Nolan, Fifty-fifth Infantry Brigade.

Faith In European Bonds.

Only those who recall the situation when foreigners bought our securities during the dark days of the Civil War, when our 6 per cent Government bonds sold on a gold basis for less than 50 cents on the dollar—to be accurate, as low as 40.15—have a background for comparison with the present situation. Those who have faith in the favorable outcome of conditions in European countries, and are willing to take the risk of backing their faith by the investment of their savings abroad, may reap profits following the present uncertainty in Europe commensurate with the profits that Europeans reaped who had the faith and courage necessary to invest money in this country during the Civil War. At any rate, investors who buy safe securities today will profit by the present world-wide competition for capital, which means the bidding up of the price paid for it everywhere.—World's Works.

Ready for The Hessian Fly.

It is likely that more will be learned this year about the Hessian fly than in any year since Gen. Howe's hired Hessians are supposed to have brought the pest to Long Island during the Revolution. There have been numerous destructive outbreaks of the Hessian fly and a great deal has been found out about it, but nobody was in position to do the job properly. Another outbreak is likely this spring, and the United States Department of Agriculture is ready for it.

Two years ago the appropriation for Hessian fly work was increased sufficiently to provide for the principal needs. Shortly afterwards the Bureau of Entomology established three stations for the purpose of systematic study. They are at Carlisle, Pa., Centralia, Ill., and Wichita, Kans. Each station is equipped with a full set of weather instruments, and several readings are taken each year throughout the year. Sowings have been made at various dates for several years to determine the fly-free period for each year. Experiments have been conducted with many varieties of wheat to determine their fly-resisting qualities. Exhaustive investigations are under way on parasites of the Hessian fly. The main object is of wheat to determine their fly-resistance or absence of any particular parasite has on periodical outbreaks of the fly.

When the last great outbreak came five or six years ago no such complete preparation for study had been made. If the threatening one materializes this spring the preparation that has been made should result in a number of important studies.

In the 10 years since the Montana National Bison Range was established the 37 buffaloes with which the herd was started have increased to 296. In addition there are on the range 125 elk (not including calves of last year), 33 antelope and 13 mule deer. It is believed that the range is large enough to support 800 bison, 400 antelope, 500 deer, and 800 elk.

The live-stock sale advertised in The Standard for March 9 for Moore and Bryant between Benton and Commerce was favored with a bright day and was attended by probably the largest crowd that ever attended a sale in the County. The day was too short to sell more than one-fourth the stock. Mr. Bryant will be on hand to sell the rest at a private sale.

When the children start a game, they "count out" to see who shall be "it." It's merely a process of elimination for making a choice.

When you buy goods through a mail order catalog you do much the same thing. There are often several items of the same class grouped on a page. You don't want this one because of such and such a feature. You reject that one because it lacks so-and-so. And when you have inspected all the pictures and read all the descriptions and eliminated those with objectionable features you finally take what's left.

If you could have seen the articles themselves, you might have found that one of the others would have suited your needs better. That's why it pays to trade where you can see before you buy.

Successful Sale Held of the Town Lots In Smith Addition of Campbell.

The sale of town lots in the R. J. Smith addition in Campbell was quite successful. Mr. Smith and the promoters of the sale deserved a better day. They have been handicapped all along on account of rainy weather; the sale being postponed from the first date set. On the day of the sale, the clouds hung heavy all morning and about noon a slow drizzly rain began to fall and it looked as if the sale would have to be postponed again, but the owner and the promoters were determined to hold the sale if possible, so they ordered the band to start playing and the parade started for the lots. The attendance was far above expectation and though the rain began to fall harder, the crowd took it good naturedly and remained upon the grounds until the last lot was sold.

The lots were: 40x150 and ranged in price from $465.00 to $395.00 or an average of $106.72 per lot. The property was well divided and was bought by the citizens of Campbell and the surrounding farmers and many of the purchasers expect to erect homes on their lots this summer.

The sale was well managed; even down to the smallest detail and Mr. Smith was well pleased with the results and gave the promoters high praise for their work. The sale was promoted by The Ebert-McCoy Realty Auction Co. of St. Louis; the auctioneer being Col. A. A. Ebert of this firm.

The gold gift was won by Mrs. M. E. Towler, an elderly widowed lady of that city; the lucky number being 1490.

The Ebert-McCoy Realty Auction Co. go to Charleston, Mo., where they expect to sell a high-class subdivision in the near future.

Very soon the weather will be fit to do road grading. I have noticed that trees have been trimmed and brush and other rubbish, tin cans have been piled along road side. Wish to say, that such acts, as piling brush and other rubbish out of yards, in the roads is contrary to Street Ordinance.

It takes a great deal of the Commissioners time, while grading, when the grading has to stop, and devote his time to or in getting rid of brush piles and other rubbish.

Wishing your co-operation and good will, I beg pardon.
